PROPERTY LEASED FOR SANITARIUM

Saugerties, May 1.—Miss Cornelia Black, R.N., of Elizabeth, N. J., a graduate of Bellevue Hospital of Nursing in New York city and who served 22 months in the A. E. F. in France has leased the Beers Sanitarium in this village. Plans have been made to do the necessary remodeling and alterations and Miss Black is looking forward to the opening of this much needed institution in Saugerties about the latter part of May. Miss Black comes to this place highly recommended and with the necessary qualifications to the successful operation of the sanitarium having served as superintendent of nurses in the Dover and Cranford hospitals in New Jersey.

Beers Sanitarium was originally opened about ten years ago by Miss Susie Beers and until her death enjoyed the success which she built up.

Newberry Store Changes Managers. The J. J. Newberry store here which has been under the management of Herman Miles for the past several months has resigned his position and will hereafter reside in New York city. During his stay here Mr. Miles made many friends who will greatly miss him and hope for his success. The new manager of the local store will be Mr. Leahy, of Kingston.

Dart Ball Banquet in May. Saugerties, May 1.—The annual banquet and playoff of the Saugerties township dart ball will be held in Frank Hills hall at Mt. Marion, on Wednesday evening, May 12. The dinner will be served by the Ladies Aid Society of the Reformed church of that place. The teams have done splendid work during the winter months and many are sorry that the season has drawn to a close.

Lyric Quartet Gives Concert. Saugerties, May 1.—The Lyric Male Quartet, of Saugerties, rendered a musical program in Newburgh, on Wednesday evening at the 34th annual banquet of the Sons of the American Revolution. This affair was held in the Palatine Hotel where a complete speaking and singing program was rendered. Charles D. Stanley, George DuBois, Francis Ruether, Donald S. Fellows of this village attended the affair.

Doctor Buys Property. Saugerties, May 1.—Dr. John C. Kamp of John street has purchased the Vedder property located on the Kings Highway from Mrs. Rose Vedder. Mrs. Vedder expects to make her home with her children. Negotiations were made through the agency of Harold M. Kamp and Attorney Clyde Gardner prepared the necessary papers.

Grand Union to Discontinue Partition Street Store. Saugerties, May 1.—The Grand Union Co. has decided to discontinue its Partition street store in the Masonic Block where it has been located for many years. This store will be merged with the Main street store when alterations are completed in the Community House building on or about June 1. For a number of years the Grand Union Co. has operated two stores in this village and is making plans to have one large store take care of its trade.

Garden Club Holds Meeting. Saugerties, May 1.—The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held their meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Spencer D. Williams with a large attendance. The committee for the day composed of Mrs. Theodore Goerck, chairman, Mrs. Harold Dederick and Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt. The topic was "Native Mosses" and her paper on this subject was both interesting and instructive. Mrs. Harold Dederick spoke on "April Wild Flowers" and her paper was in regards to the many early spring flowers that appear early. Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt spoke on "Our Insect Friends—the Pollinators," and described how the bees entered the blossoms of the May squash and covered themselves with the pollen and carried it to other flowers for pollination, and to the bees for honey. Her paper was very interesting. This Society will hold a lower exhibit early in June and each member is urged to get a friend to exhibit at this time. The meeting was brought to a close with the serving of delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Harold Dederick spoke on "April Wild Flowers" and her paper was in regards to the many early spring flowers that appear early. Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt spoke on

HERE IS A NICE STORY WE HEARD THE OTHER DAY

Neither Dad nor Mother had much schooling. Both realized what they had missed and made up their minds their children would get a good education. They saved to make the promise come true.

It was the small sum of $1 that opened a savings account for each child, but regular, systematic saving followed. Now son and daughter are off to college.

Savings regularly deposited in this Institution grow with interest and soon amount to a sum to provide the good things of life.

Second Recital by Mauterstock Pupils

The second recital by the piano and elocution pupils of Miss Ethel Mauterstock at the home for the aged on Washington avenue was presented on Friday evening.

These numbers were rendered by the junior group, assisted by several of the intermediate pupils. Every number was well done and the performers seemed to get as much enjoyment from their playing and speaking as they gave to their guests.

Miss Mauterstock was assured that the pleasure she had given the family at the home would long be remembered. The program follows:

High School News

Commencement Cards

The Senior Class of 1937 completed arrangements for the commencement announcement cards during the week. Sample portfolio number two was selected by the members of the class in a roll call vote of the Senior rooms. The announcement card selected by popular vote is most appropriate, embellished with stilted script and an informally dignified border upon semi-smooth texture. Mr. Dumm cautioned the Seniors to the fact that the announcement cards are in no sense an admission to the commencement ceremonies. Tickets to the commencement are issued in limited quantities, generally six, to the graduates for distribution to parents, relatives and friends. The commencement cards represent a distinct difference in meaning from the actual graduation admittance tickets. Senior subscriptions for the individual quotas closed Wednesday morning and the announcement cards will be distributed in the future.

Senior Picture

The annual group picture of the Senior Class of Kingston High School's graduation students was taken on the steps of the main entrance facing the campus on Monday morning. Previously scheduled for the preceding Thursday, the group snapshot was postponed until Monday due to prevailing showers. However, Monday's weather was perfect despite a slight wind and the Senior class arrayed itself on the front steps at 8:40, preceding the regular day schedule. Lou Merillat of Pennington's Studio, supervised the pictorial arrangement with Mr. Dumm on hand to advise the students as to correct positions. The class was divided into two sections in a new feature devised by the forthcoming Maroon, Senior class year-book, in order to insure a larger and more clearly developed picture as allowed by the new "offset" printing process used in the 1937 edition for the first time.

Salesmanship Speaker

Russell Miller, salesmanship instructor on the faculty of the Albany Business College, visited the fifth period salesmanship course students recently. The Albany business institute representative addressed the class on a vital phase in the securing of an employment position, "Personal Appearance," a phase of business contacts untouched by the preceding speakers in the series of weekly lectures arranged by Donald Wilkes, was the keynote of the professor's verbal theme. Personal appearance has a great deal to do with one's advancement in the business world. Well groomed, neat, but not gaudy, taste in one's wearing apparel lends a tone of dignity and influences sales. Personal appearance also reflects in a sense the wearer's personality. Personal interests, characteristics, environment and associations are contained in the physical characteristics of a person by his mannerisms, stature and other intangible qualities. Good appearance means good sales.

Report Cards

The report card period for the second quarter of the current term in the school year 1936-37 ended yesterday afternoon. Report cards bearing the scholastic records of the students for the middle third of the second term will be distributed in the near future. Mr. Dumm requests that parents peruse the grades carefully and instruct students to return cards promptly upon obtaining parent's signature. With the closing of the second report card, the perennial June Regents examinations loom upon the scholastic horizon more closely than ever. Only six weeks remain before the Regents schedule will be on hand. The remaining six weeks will be of vital importance to members of the current senior class who are striving to insure graduation by the maintenance of a "senior average" as allowed under the local scholastic rulings.

Athletic Talk

Peter Sanstol, former bantam-weight boxing champion and a native of Norway, addressed a representative gathering of grade and high school students in Room 10 at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Sanstol addressed the large gathering of youthful sport enthusiasts in an informal mead and delivered a most instructive talk. Taking athletics and fitness for physical use as the topic of his talk, the speaker interspersed his remarks with amusing gestures to emphasize the gist of his theme. Preaching the furtherance of all sports movements and urging the assembled youths to compete in all types of athletic endeavors, Mr. Sanstol explained the benefits derived from physical upbuilding. The former boxing champion told of the beautiful zest and the wholesome goodness that he derived from sports and of the understanding that active participation in athletics gives one. Quoting several personal experiences in a genuinely refreshment manner, the guest speaker informed the boys that sports build up one's character and the big business man of tomorrow is the athlete of today. Sports fit one for the job of the future and naturally endow a person with confidence in his ability to carve himself a place in the world. Speaking with a distinct Norwegian accent, the former boxing title holder acquitted himself well in his verbal interpretation of his athletic ventures and received spontaneous rounds of applause from the school boys and guests on hand among whom were the Rev. Clarence S. Brown, Sidney Lutzin, director of boys' athletics in the city, Mr. Kurtzacker, of the local faculty, and several of the grade school principals with representative groups from each of the various grade schools of the city's system.

The Rev. Mr. Gaenzle

The Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, addressed the "A" assembly group in a special assemblage of the upper class students Thursday morning. Theron Carter, vice principal of the high school, introduced the speaker of the assembly program. Mr. Gaenzle opened his talk by stating that he was no stranger to high school students as four members of his congregation played on the KHS DUSO championship basketball team. The speaker, talking in an interesting informal mead, diverted from the usual theme by likening the young people assembled in the auditorium to a postal stamp. Ambition makes us what we are or what we will be in the future. The postage stamp may be licked but it always sticks to its job and receives the sign of approval by its cancellation. Young people may achieve success in like manner by conquering numerous setbacks in their future business lives. The postage stamp must be licked to make it do its duty; so must one's stubborn characteristics be submerged by our better nature. The Rev. Mr. Gaenzle told the story of a high school graduate named Jim, who possessed an abundance of self-confidence and a "know it all" attitude. Jim was "hazed" at a college institution and emerged from his college career a decided success because he had conquered himself. Know yourself and at all times be yourself for one who is naturally inferior will naturally succeed. The Redeemer pastor quoted from Edward Sims' famous poem to emphasize his theme of being one's self in spite of discouraging aspects and to always strive ahead. Always the successful person is the one who sticks at his job until it has been completed. Likening one's trouble to the tremendous strivings of the inventor Cyrus W. Fields and his transatlantic cable, the speaker urged the students to persevere as Fields did for 13 years and to gain a glorious success. If we can gain success by our perseverance, like the postage stamp when we are finished with life and cast aside, we will bear God's seal of approval for a job well done, just as the cancelled stamp signifies a successful completion of a task.

Class Day Eligibles

President Frank O'Hara arranged for a special meeting of the 1937 senior class students during the week to introduce the new plan of electing Class Day speakers for the traditional June exercises. President O'Hara introduced Miss Madeline Tarrant, dramatic instructor, who explained the new procedure of the selection of a list of eligible students instead of nominations from the entire senior class. Miss Tarrant urged discretion in the senior's nominations and to make appropriate choices voiced on merit alone. Seniors who were not available through pressure of studies, extracurricular activities and other reasons were automatically eliminated from the list. Ten faculty advisors of the senior class selected a list of 98 seniors, composed of 61 girl nominees and 37 boys, to be eligible for the class day program. Class poet, class prophet, class critic, class historian, class legacy, faculty addressor and junior class advisor, a total of seven speakers, are to be selected from the list of nominees.

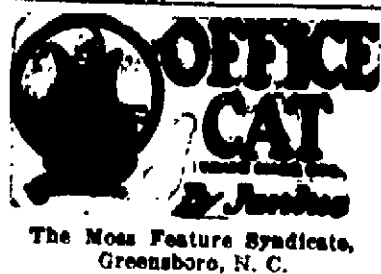

The list of eligible students follows: Louis Boice, Charles Bold, Don Burgher, John Decker, John Enoch, John Enderly, Joe Heaney, L. #### FIRST OF MAY

First of May—Clear the way
Baskets, barrels, bundles
Take good care—said the ware
"Betty"—where's the bundles?
Pots and kettles, broken victrols
Plaster heads, featherbeds
Looking glasses, old mattresses
Spoons and ladles, baby cradles
Banners, cups—smelly tubs
Hurry, hurry, grave and gay
All must drudge, the first of May.

Now we chuck, mind the truck
Shovel, bed clothes, bedding
On, we go, and drive along
Like a beggars, wedding
Jointed stools, domestic tools
Chairs unbacked, table cracked
Spit and jack, griddles black
Picture hooks, rusty black
Old potatoes, ventilators
Hurry, hurry, grave and gay
All must drudge, the first of May.

Now we've got to the spot
Rugs, bureau, settees
Rope untie, mind your eye!
Pray, be careful, Betty!
Look what's there, broken ware
China crashed, bottles smashed
Pickles spoiled, carpets soiled
Shredded, scratched, cups unbacked
Empty racks, broken flasks
Hurry, hurry, grave and gay
Get you gone, the first of May.

Hark, what noise, girls and boys
Hauling all things over
All astonished, head confound
Savage, an' over
Such a clashing, and a smashing
Ripping, splitting, pulling biting
Babies crying, women flying
All about, in a twinkling
With quiet busy, roving crazy
Hurry, hurry, grave and gay
Such a bedlam—first of May.

Great surprise, mind your eyes
What a dust—we're raising
Clear the way, show them—say!
Ole ston beds, are blasting
Bed bugs dying, fleas are flying
Landlords going, tenants pouting
Washing, scrubbing, painting rubbing
Scolding, sweeting, mending, tearing Devil take the man, I say!
Who invented first of May?

Hotels Face Strikes

San Francisco, May 1 (AP)—Fifteen San Francisco hotels, including several of the most famous in the west, faced the threat of a strike today. Leaders of 3,200 union employees, who already have authorized a walk-out, went into a meeting avowedly to order out the workers "as soon as possible." The dispute, involving six unions, centered around a demand for a five-day week and preferential hiring for office workers and clerks.

want to sign any waiver and appear voluntarily before the grand jury the cult leader and his followers, both blacks and whites, gathered on the front steps of the court house while photographers snapped their pictures.

Then Father Divine and his Angels crowded into their waiting automobiles and sped away.

No Notes Taken

Divine was accompanied by his white secretary, who was present with the evident intention of taking notes of the conference, but no notes were taken.

As the visit occurred during the noon hour there were large numbers of people in the uptown business section, and the majority had never had a personal view of Divine, and were given the opportunity at first hand to see what he actually looked like.

Before calling the district attorney, Divine paid a visit to the Benedictine Hospital where he talked with his wife who was sitting on the porch. Following the conversation he was interviewed by members of the press as to the reason of his visit to Kingston and he said he intended seeing the district attorney and offering his services.

While he was talking with Mother Divine a cameraman snapped a picture and Divine became very indignant and wanted the plate destroyed. He said he would pose for the newspaper man outside the hospital.

One of the husky followers offered to slap down the cameraman if he did not destroy the picture, but the camera chap refused to destroy the plate.

Attorney Madison, Divine's attorney, told the camera man that if he attempted to punch back it would prove a dear punch.

Aside from verbal fireworks no blows were struck and the camera man still has his picture.

Policeman Henry P. Barman was present and his attendance at the scene may have had something to do with preventing hostilities.

"I love Faithful, and will do everything to make her happy," Charlotte told reporters.

Glad to Have Secretary

"It's just wonderful to have a secretary," Mary opined, "especially Charlotte. She's such a nice girl."

Faithful's three guests rode with her to Newark in the Buick, chauffeured by John Victory, who remained loyal to her from the time she and Divine quarreled.

"I'll be back Sunday afternoon to prepare for my appearance before the grand jury, Monday," said Faithful as she settled herself in the rear seat of the limousine bound for Newark.

Whether Father Divine would visit his heavens this week-end, as he did last, could not be determined. His angels never knew when "Father is liable to appear." The banquet tables are always prepared for his arrival.

Madison Indignant.

Arthur Madison counsel for Divine, was in Kingston Saturday talking to a reporter at the Ulster county clerk's office, he expressed indignation over Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux's questioning of angels in Ulster heaveens.

"One would think we were murderers, the way they come out and get our people," he said.

The sheriff's men have been picking up Divinities at the local missions and transporting them to the court house for questioning. He denied any mistreatment.

"We have a perfect right to question Father Divine's followers, and we're going to continue until we get to the bottom of this thing," Sheriff Molyneux said.

Madison denied that Divine wanted the Eagle Hotel, but said he intended to purchase more Ulster county property.

Spirited Bidding At Property Sale

A good sized audience at the court house this noon was entertained by some unusually spirited bidding at sale under foreclosure of the Mana Herman business property on Center street, Ellenville. The crowd had been augmented by the fact that at about the time the sale started Father Divine and a company of his followers had entered the court house and gone upstairs to interview District Attorney Murray and many had come in to see what was going on.

The sale was under a foreclosure order obtained by Allen D. Potter and John F. Rippet, trustees under the will of Frank P. Dowse, deceased, against Mana and Gusie Herman and numerous other defendants. The property, a meat market, with apartments upstairs, has a frontage of 38 feet on Center street and a depth of 165 feet.

When N. LeVan Haver, referee, offered the property for sale, Cleon B. Murray started the bidding at $2645, but subsequent bidding was between H. Westlake Coons of Ellenville, representing a number of purchasers and Arthur B. Ewig of Cashin & Ewig, representing Joseph Sadie, Harry and Leah Gottesman of 460 Broadway, Kingston.

There were something over 50 bids offered by the two attorneys, who raised their bids, once by as little as 25 cents, until the property was finally struck down to Attorney Coons for $7275.

Justice O'Neil Dead Of Stab Wounds

New York, May 1 (AP)—Justice John J. O'Neil of the Municipal Court, died today of stab wounds inflicted by an unidentified assailant.

Judge O'Neil's condition had been critical almost from the start, blood transfusions bringing only temporary relief. Hope was revived yesterday, however, when he showed more strength and declared:

"I'll pull through. I'll make it all right."

Justice O'Neil was stabbed in the back last Tuesday while waiting for a bus, enroute to his office.

As the assassin ran, the justice stiffened, said not a word, but walked back to his apartment slowly. Informed his wife that he had been attacked and was going to a nearby hospital. He collapsed a few seconds later.

Justice O'Neil had served on the bench for 11 years and was known as an official without an enemy.

Witnesses of the stabbing said two men wearing tan polo coats approached the justice as he waited for the bus and that one of them appeared to be "patting" him on the back.

Mrs. O'Neil and a nurse were the only persons at the bedside when death came at 6:10 o'clock this morning.

Justice O'Neil was an appointee of James I. Walker and had been on the bench for 11 years. Long prominent in New York's public life, he served as an assistant district attorney under William T. W. Jerome. He was a member of the Irons Tammany Club.

His death intensified the search for his assailant and brought the crack homicide squad into the case.

More Raiment on Carippers.

New York, May 1 (AP)—Broadway burlesque put more raiment on its snappers and choines today, toned down its risque lines and blackouts and prepared to go on with the show, the law permitting. Licenses of the 14 burlesque theatres in Manhattan and Brooklyn expired at midnight and managers awaited the decision of License Commissioner Paul Moss, who said he might not renew them. The commissioner weighed the charges of religious groups that the burlesque houses were impairing morals and the statement of proprietors that 800 persons would be jobless if the theatres were closed.

Extend License Period

Albany, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—At least a month's period of grace will be allowed New York automobile drivers for renewal of licenses expiring May 31. Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Hartnett announced today. Under extensions authorized for this year only in a bill signed this week by Governor Lehman chauffeurs' licenses will be good until June 30 and operators' licenses will be valid until a date yet to be announced, but not later than September 30, Hartnett said.

Shimmering Jewels, Ermine And $25-A-Yard Velvet Will Make English Coronation A Pageant Of Splendor

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Feature Service Writer

London—England's $2,000,000 coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on May 12 will be a gorgeous pageant of clothes and jewels. The nearest rival in magnificence is the crowning of King George V and Queen Mary in Westminster Abbey in 1911. But plans to crown King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in a blaze of royal pomp and splendor indicate that their coronation may surpass its predecessor.

The most prominent women in the British realm—princesses, peeresses, wives of ministers and ambassadors and Indian maharanees—will gather in historic old Westminster Abbey in shimmering gold-embroidered gowns, ermine-trimmed robes and jewels worth more than a king's ransom.

Peeresses Wear Red

The peeresses will be the most gorgeously gowned women in the abbey after Queen Elizabeth and Dowager Queen Mary in their ermine-trimmed purple velvet and diamonds.

Their robes will be of ruby red velvet with a fitted floor-length kirtle and long court train suspended from the shoulders—both bordered with ermine and topped by a little ermine cape "powdered" with rows of black tail tips. (Only royalty is allowed to wear the ermine tails.) The higher the peeresses' rank the longer their trains and the more rows of black tail tips on their ermine capes. Baronesses, for instance, rate one yard of train trailing on the floor and two rows of tail tips on the ermine capes, while duchesses are entitled to two yards of trailing train and four rows of ermine tips.

The authentic silk coronation velvet costing $25 a yard, which will be used for some of the peeresses' robes, is a story in itself.

"It is so heavy and rich that it takes a skilled weaver one week to make three yards," says Edward Simonds, managing director of Reville (dressmaker to Queen Mary and many peeresses). "The pile is shaved by hand with a razor-like knife—52 cuts to the inch."

Under those heavy velvet robes peeresses will wear a rich ivory satin slip with front panel embroidered in gold or shimmering evening gowns of gold or silver brocade.

Coronet Back Of Tiara

Their red velvet coronets, trimmed with gold and banded in ermine, will be carried in their hands and placed on their heads just back of their glittering tiaras when Queen Elizabeth is crowned.

Women who are not peeresses will attend the coronation ceremonies in court dress and some of the most brilliant gowns European dressmakers have designed in years will be seen.

COAT OF SABLE
A regal sable coat serves as a coronation wrap for the woman who is not a peeress. It is worn over the rose pink and silver lame gown shown in the center photograph.

With them will go the traditional court headdress—three white Prince of Wales plumes and a 45-inch veil. More jeweled tiaras, bracelets and necklaces will contribute to the brilliance of the costumes.

The rich robes of Indian maharanees designed of shimmering silks banded in gold or silver braid and worn with the magnificent jewels for which they are famous will add a final touch of oriental splendor to the scene.

FOR THE CORONATION

Time to Watch For the Moths

Ithaca, May 1—A household safety-first campaign against the clothes moth need not be expensive to be successful, according to Grace Griswold of the New York state college of agriculture. She says the simple, inexpensive methods of thorough cleaning and careful packing are still among the best for protecting winter clothes and blankets.

Articles worth keeping should be packed in a trunk or chest where they can receive proper care. An old-fashioned trunk is just the thing, says Miss Griswold; so is a well-made wooden chest. A wooden box will do if the cover fits and can not slip off. Cardboard boxes are not much good. "The best insecticide I know is paradichlorobenzene, sometimes called 'paradi' or P-D-B for short. It comes in the form of crystals and is inexpensive. Since it forms a gas that is heavier than air, it must be placed above the articles to be fumigated."

"First, pack the clothing in the trunk, then put about one-fourth pound of paradichlorobenzene on top of the clothing. The crystals can be scattered about if desired. The easiest way is to tie the crystals in a piece of old muslin, but don't tie the bag too tightly. When the supply in the bag gets low, put in some more crystals. Always have some paradichlorobenzene in the trunk."

"If you plan to be away all summer, put more 'paradi' in the bag when clothing is packed away. A half pound together with the same amount of naphthalene flakes is recommended. The clothing will then be safe for several months."

"Certain things used occasionally in the summer need not be packed away in a trunk. Why not buy a tin flower can for the summer fur or picnic sweater? They will be safe if kept with a small bag of paradichlorobenzene. An empty can from the grocery store serves the same purpose."

Paper garment bags are all right if the garments are absolutely free from eggs and larvae when they are put in the bags, says Miss Griswold. The bags must be tightly sealed and must not have one single break or tear. Clothes moths can enter through the tiniest of holes.

"Garments that hang in closets are not safe, as it is very difficult to fumigate clothing in the average closet. Fumes have too much opportunity to escape through openings around and under closet doors and through ordinary plaster, which is porous."

HOMESPUK YARN

Cooking greens in an uncovered kettle helps to preserve their bright green color.

Seaweed is a popular food imported in various forms for the Japanese and Chinese in the United States.

Crewelwork was a popular embroidery stitch practiced in this country by the first women settlers in New England.

In the colonial days, only the gentry wore calfskin shoes; the servants were restricted to shoes of coarser leather.

A mechanical refrigerator should have enough space around it to allow a free circulation of air, which is necessary to carry away the heat taken from the food.

Beach Beauties Try for an Olive Tan

It Goes Better With Evening Clothes

SUNKIST BEAUTY

Tempering her tanning with discretion, Nancy Sprow of Sandusky, Ohio, guards against unbecoming sunburn.

By VIRGINIA CHUMLEY

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—With summer coming, the burning question is: "How does one get a good tan, and how deep a tan will be fashionable this year?"

A light olive color is the most popular shade here.

A few seasons ago everybody tried to brown as deeply as possible. Then smart women awoke to the fact that too much tan was bad for the skin.

They also discovered that the dark gal, no matter how beautiful she may be on the beach, is inclined to look dull and uninteresting in evening clothes. On the other hand a gold or light tan will not fade into the background by night but will enhance a colorful evening frock.

With color playing such a great part in new fashions, the shade of the skin is more important than usual. A light olive complexion will blend well with almost any color costume.

Another point in favor of the medium tan is that it will not harm the skin. Those midnight-browns almost invariably coarsen the skin. And for the new winter clothes at the end of summer olive beauties bleach out nicely while ultra-dark damsels are inclined to come out yellowish.

Acquire Tan Gradually
How to get sunkist. Instead of black or bronzed? First, remember that the best tans are acquired gradually. Second, remember that salt water drying on the body will give a darker tan.

All manner of lotions and creams are offered by the cosmetic companies for a pretty—and painless—tanning. Lots of women, however, still prefer old favorites.

One school uses vinegar and olive oil. About fifty life guards and swimming instructors consulted on the matter are again vinegar. It is inclined to give a dull tan—and so will anything else that is acid, because it browns too quickly.

Olive oil used alone is considered much better. Oil puts a smooth film over the skin and results in a smooth, bright color.

For those who do their sun-slouching on the sand, however, olive oil is too greasy. Cocoa butter is more satisfactory, because the oil in it seems to disappear even though it continues with its good work.

The speed with which you tan should vary according to the sensitivity of your skin. Ten minutes is often long enough to stay out the first day. Twenty minutes is right for the second day. Then, if there is no redness that night, a half hour is not too long for the third day. If still no redness appears the fourth day may be stretched to 45 minutes, the fifth day to one hour. One hour is as long as you should ever stay under the sun until you have a tan sufficient to keep you from burning.

Skip a Day

If, at any time around the second, third or fourth day, you become burned, skip a day. This will give your skin a chance to color beneath as well as becoming. Those first few days are the most important.

You should use oil, or some good lotion, until the tan is acquired completely. Even then it is wise to continue using oil at regular intervals so that your skin won't get too dry.

As for how much of yourself to tan—let your most décolleté evening dress decide that. You don't want to embarrass you. Slip down the straps of your bathing suit occasionally. Roll yourself over with the regularity of barbecued meat and you'll be as brown on your fore side as aft.

Wise Traveler Finds It Pays To Tip Justly

By JOAN DURHAM

AP Feature Service Writer

Wherever people travel the tipping problem rears its persistent head:

Travelers generally meet with the problem in three places: hotels, trains and public dining places.

For short stays, under ordinary circumstances, there's only one person who has to be tipped in the hotel—the bellboy.

It is the bellboy who "rooms" the guests—to use his own expression. The moment the guest arrives the captain of the bellboys turns his or her baggage and room key over to the bellboy who, in turn, settles the visitor in his temporary home.

Tip's For Bellboy

Bellboys in higher-priced hotels receive a minimum of twenty-five cents for a guest who has approximately two bags and perhaps an extra hatbox or so. In less expensive hotels the tip is as low as a dime.

Once settled in his room the guest does not need to do any further tipping until he calls the bellboy when he leaves—unless he requires additional service.

If he wants meals brought to his room he telephones "room service." Most hotels charge a set fee for each meal served in the guest's room. In that case no other tip is necessary.

For anything else—cigarettes or a newspaper, for instance—he calls the bell captain. Ten or fifteen cents is the tip usually given to a bellboy who does such errands.

Porter Handles Trunks

Trunks are generally delegated to a porter by the bell captain. Because his work is more strenuous, the porter is usually given about fifty cents, although a quarter is enough in many hotels.

Guests who stay in a hotel for longer than a week should leave a tip for the maid or maids. Fifty cents for each maid is about the minimum.

Other tips include:
From 10 to 20 per cent of the bill in public restaurants and dining rooms. (A lump sum tip of about five per cent is sufficient for an extended stay. It should be given at the conclusion of the stay.)

Ten cents to a quarter for checking wraps or packages at checking desks or coat rooms.

Between 10 and 20 per cent of the bill for services in a beauty parlor. (A quarter for the first dollar and a dime for each additional dollar. A dime for fifty cents or less.)

Quarter to 50 cents to a Pullman porter for each day's travel. (Overnight trips usually mean 50 cents or more.)

About 10 per cent of the bill for a taxi ride.

FASHION FANCIES

Paris (AP)—Marina, Duchess of Kent, shows her fondness for beige by ordering two ensembles in the shade from Molyneux. One is a two-piece sports dress in beige and brown, trimmed with buttons in brown and copper, and a scarf of brown surah silk. The other, an afternoon ensemble, has a beige crepe dress which features sun-pleats on skirt and sleeves. The beige wool coat has short sleeves bordered with silver fox.

New York (AP)—Satin will be in vogue during August, dress designers say. icy tints of the fabrics will be fashioned into evening dresses. For afternoon wear tailored dresses of printed satin are planned. Dark satin shades, dotted in white, will be made up into street ensembles.

New York (AP)—Sports shoes flash gay messages as the Pan-American influence becomes apparent. Inspired by the coming Dallas, Texas, exposition, shoe originators have ornamented suede and buck oxfords with studding and nail beads. Copper is especially popular.

New York (AP)—Sharkskin has become one of the most popular summer fabrics. Not only is it used for suits and jackets, but now it comes out on the beach in slacks, shorts and culottes. In the evening it appears in formal gowns.

HANDSOME ANNUAL LUPINE GOOD BACKGROUND SUBJECT

If you have had trouble with perennial lupines, substitute the annual varieties. They are not so fussy and grow easily from seed with spikes of bloom almost as fine as the perennial, and bloom from seed the first year.

See that it has plenty of water during the hottest spells through the summer. The downy foliage is ornamental, with the long leaflets radiating from a common center like an umbrella, and will wilt from dryness.

They have a fine range of colors in blues, pinks, and white variations. There is also a yellow variety of soft shades. The tall varieties give the longest spikes and are better for cutting, while the dwarf sorts are better for bedding.

They prefer partial shade, and are best placed where they will get the morning sun, and be shaded from the afternoon scorchers. Plant the seed about a quarter inch deep and transplant as soon as a true leaf develops. They are rather hard to transplant, but as the germination of the seed is uneven it is best to sow in a seed bed and move to permanent quarters.

Woman Expert On Algae Mixes Fun With Science

By SHIRLEY ARNE
(Of Feature Service Writer)

Washington—It's a dark day when the elevator refuses to run to the office of Dr. Florence E. Meier of the Smithsonian Institution staff. She has a little hangover from the top floor of the flag tower, which makes it the highest office in Washington.

But sometimes the automatic elevator rebels, and then Dr. Meier, with all her degrees, has to trip lightly up 11 floors on an iron ladder like the one up the outside of the gas company's storage tank.

She's a scientist—a "pure scientist"—which means that she can follow her own bent on discovering truths regardless of whether they are immediately useful or not.

Useful To Scientists

She has spent six years with algae, and she may spend her whole life with them. They're the microscopic creatures that hang together and form green scum on the edge of ponds. They're useful to scientists because they're only one cell, and therefore very simple.

Dr. Meier is one of the very few algae experts in the world. When she wants to get up a really good algae argument, the best she can do is write to somebody in Hungary or France or Japan.

Right now Dr. Meier is studying the effect of various lights on them.

Feed On Jelly

The algae do their multiplying and dying in a large glass cabinet near her desk. They look like green spots on top of colorless jelly which is kept in glass flasks stoppered with cotton.

Teachers' College at Framingham, Mass. He sent her to Wellesley, and she went later to the University of Geneva.

"Scientists can become very dull," she says, "if they don't arrange a well-balanced life."

So she does it. Her office, of course, is all business.

But her apartment is home. Right now on the table next her reading chair are "An American Doctor's Odyssey" and Noel Coward's "Play Parade."

On the grand piano "The Merry Widow" runs elbows with Franz Schubert's Opus No. 87. The icebox is ready for heavy traffic because Dr. Meier likes to entertain. And in the corner next the door are a pair of professional-looking tennis rackets.

EMBROIDER YOUR CLOTHES

Embroidery is back again, with the return of more feminine, decorative fashions. So smarten your wardrobe for summer with easy embroidery stitches.

The charming little flower-decked pocket was designed to be stitched right over your heart. The flower design goes on like lightning in easy fishbone and buttonhole stitches. Make it of bright felt or linen to match the girdle with gay peasant figures of cross stitch and buttonhole.

Imagine a simple white or natural linen dress set off with festive girdle and pocket of vivid green linen embroidered in fuchsia, gold and royal blue wools. Or gold, green, light and dark coral embroidery in mercerized cotton on turquoise linen.

While butterflies are fashion's pet, let them alight on the cuffs of your gloves. Work them in navy on yellow fabric gloves to wear with your navy suit. Or embroider them in pastels on the organdy cuff of summer gloves. Cross stitch over the seams.

Our 40-page booklet, EASY EMBROIDERY STITCHES IN POPULAR USES, diagrams, and explains many simple easy-to-do stitches. Also gives many smart designs in actual working size which you can trace to use on smart clothing, household linens, wall tapestries, chair seats.

Send 15c for our booklet, EASY EMBROIDERY STITCHES IN POPULAR USES, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

You can't beat taxation. Government on those of small means for sustenance. These are facts that should not be enough of them. It must rely be understood by every citizen.

MODES of the MOMENT

Mint Green and White

Flower-shaped buttons fasten the front of a mint green and white afternoon dress of angora wool lace. The dress has short puffed sleeves, a neat Peter Pan collar and a white patent leather belt.

ANNUALS ARE THE BEST FLOWERS FOR CUTTING

The smaller gardener who has an oversupply of cutting material in his flower bed is a rarity.

This is one instance, at least, where the old adage, "Your mouth is bigger than your stomach," does not apply, for most people plant too few flowers for cutting purposes, and although they swear each fall that next year they will plant twice as many, when the time actually comes they haven't enough.

The truth of the matter is that summer flowers live up a living room like no other one thing, and the owner who is fortunate enough to have a garden full of them can't help robbing it by the hundred to bring into the house.

A Generous Planting of Annuals

Annuals are way out and above the other flowers for this purpose. For brilliancy of color, variety, easy of culture and certainty, they are unrivaled. Besides this they have a season beginning on July 1 which lasts until the frosts. Their use applies to every garden, and especially to the renter who does not care to put in an expensive display, but who wishes his full measure of summer blossoms during the season at hand.

There are so many good varieties it is difficult to form a list, but here are a few sure-fire growers: Sweet alyssum and ageratum as edging plants, calendulas, excholtzias or California poppies, marigolds, nasturtiums, annual gallardias, petunias, scabiosa, if seeds are kept picked; salvias, ten-weeks' stock, verbenas and zinnias.

Any of these may be planted in beds, or the border. They show up well in a single color, mixed or in a selected variety of color. If sown around the first of May, you will have blooms by the first of the following month, which will increase as the season progresses.

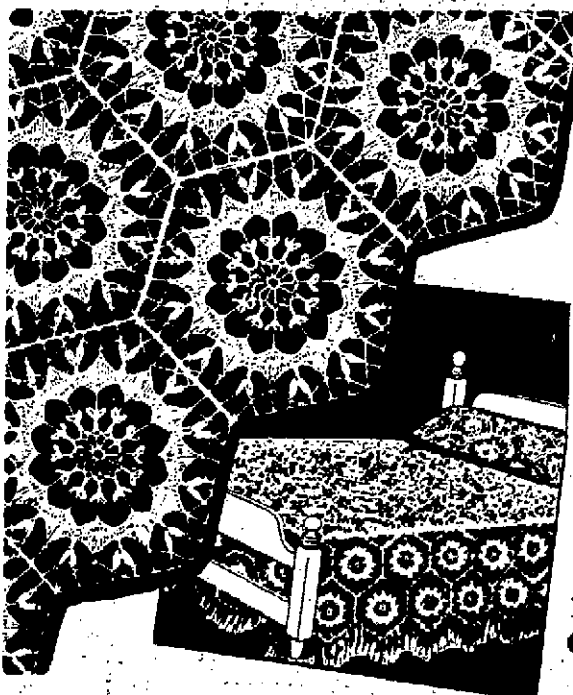

The tall Josephine is one of the best of the French marigolds; it comes in either the dwarf or tall varieties, and will make a beautiful showing in the cool days of fall. The large zinnias will make a stately display, and the calendulas coming in the fall are beautiful.

Give them plenty of room and sun. Directions for planting and culture will be found on the package, and if proper space is not given them a poor showing will result.

Typewriter vs. Trowel
One of the greatest gardeners today is the business man, particularly in the bigger cities. Seedsmen say that this did not use to be true, but that it is a marked trend today. After a day's work at the desk, the business man likes to dig in the soil of the earth.

Lecture On Landscaping
A county-wide lecture on flower arrangement will be given by Miss Lucille Smith, from the State College of Agriculture, at Ithaca. The meeting will be sponsored by the Ulster County Home Bureau, and will be held in the court house, in Kingston, on Friday May 7, beginning at 2 p. m. Everyone interested in the arrangement of flowers is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

This Lace Stands the Test of Time

PATTERN 5850

Little stitches into Splendor grow—when it's a crocheted spread you're working on. Here's lace that stands the test of Time—just simple six-sided medallions that you crochet individually in string, and join for a stunning "repeat" design. Doesn't the thought of owning a dinner cloth of this kind make your fingers itch to get started? You can make smaller articles, too, using finer cotton. (In string, the medallion is 8 1/4 inches from point to point). In pattern 5850 you will find complete instructions for making the medallion shown; an illustration of it and of all stitches used; a photograph of the medallion in almost actual size; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Art Dept., 259 W. 14th Street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 30—The May meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church will take place next Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Homer Markle.

David Conlin, and sons, Junior and Bobby, are spending a week at Long Meadow farmhouse. Mr. Conlin, a former resident of Saugerties, is principal of the high school at South Norwalk, Conn.

Donald Jackson, driver of the Dairyville milk truck through this section, has been seriously ill of pneumonia in a Kingston Hospital.

Louis Thell, trustee of school district No. 4, of Olive, advertises the annual meeting of the voters of the district for Tuesday evening, May 4, at the Ashokan schoolhouse. This district embraces a portion of the village of Shokan and the school is attended by several local children.

Shokan residents attending the Rebekahs' card party and cafeteria supper in the I.O.O.F. hall at Olive Bridge Wednesday night were: Mrs. Earl North, Mrs. Clyde Winchell, Miss Edna Longyear, Mrs. Justus North, Miss Molly Elliot, George Voder-Oaten and Homer Markle, Jr. Herbert Coleman made a business trip to New York City this week.

Woodchucks are plentiful here this spring and the animals appear to be larger and fatter than they were last year. Crows and hawks also are numerous and one resident claims to have seen 14 turkey buzzards recently.

April 29, 1871, the marriage took place at West Hurley of Henry Dubois, Olive, to Margaret Saxe, Hurley, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. H. C. Earl, pastor of the West Hurley M. E. Church. Witnesses to the nuptials were H. W. Smith and Emeline Saxe. Mr. Dubois was a farmer, owning 111 acres of land in and near the present village of Shokan. Mrs. Charles Siskler of Port Ewen is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dubois.

The annual school meeting of Olive district No. 3 will take place in the Shokan schoolhouse Tuesday, May 4, at 8 o'clock, daylight time. In addition to the usual election of trustee, clerk and collector, the matters of designating a high school and authorizing transportation for local high school pupils will be voted on at this meeting.

The bridge club and Home Bureau members gathered at the home of Mrs. Nell Windrum Tuesday afternoon. The final lesson on foods was taught by Mrs. C. H. Weldner who demonstrated the preparation of an afternoon tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bedell on Thursday moved from their temporary residence in one of Mrs. Ella Secor's houses to the Bedell bungalow on Church Hill.

Mrs. Wealthy Boice Coveny, who died in Woodstock Tuesday at the age of 84, was well-known to the old residents of this section, where she formerly resided. Her old home was on the west side of the Esopus Creek.

IMPROVED READING FOR BUFFALO STREET SIGNS

Buffalo, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—Perplexed motorists who visit this city won't have to climb lamp posts after dark any more to read the street signs.

City employees are installing mirror devices which reflect the beams from street lights onto the signs, making the lettering readable at a distance of several feet.

Previously, the signs on 4,700 lamp posts were thrown into deep shadows by the lights above.

A large percentage of hogs consigned for sale at large central markets are reshipped elsewhere for slaughter.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scar(r)rd.
Hillsdale, N. J.—Mrs. John A. Hughes, chairman of the Parent-Teacher Association, after much persuasion, obtained permission from one mother to have her grade school son fingerprinted with his classmates.

The mother has objected because: "My son has been operated on for adenoids and tonsils, and I don't want him to have any more scars."

Lost and Found.

Pittsburgh — Patrolman Frank Brush found four-year-old Tommy Kline separated from his mother in a downtown shopping crowd. He pondered his problem.

Shortly afterward a throng collected suddenly. The mother came rushing to see what the excitement was.

In the center of the crowd, at the intersection of two busy streets, stood Tommy, wearing Patrolman Brush's police cap and blowing lustily on his police whistle. "Success," commented the policeman as the mother claimed her child.

Philatelic Forecasting.

Camden, S. C.—Arthur Clark, stamp clerk at the post office here, forecasts weather free of charge.

"I can always tell whether it is going to rain," he said today. "It's simple. If the stamps in the sheets in our cabinet curl at the edges you can bet it is going to rain in eight or ten hours. If the stamps stay flat, it will remain clear."

Don't Even Bounce.

Houston, Texas—Andrew Ogg fell 20 feet from a scaffold and landed on a sidewalk. Although the force of the fall drove his head into the concrete, Ogg suffered only minor injuries.

The sidewalk was newly laid.

Man's Friend.

Breckenridge, Minn.—Two hundred Breckenridge business and railroad men stood with bared heads in the rain while six stairway railroad workers serving as pall bearers, lowered "Boomer," a colt dog, into a grave. There were 24 honorary pall bearers.

The ceremony was in tribute to the friendliness of "Boomer," who had made the Great Northern Railway roundhouse his home 12 years. Railroad men said the dog had never been known to fight—he was too friendly.

Her Lucky Day.

Blair, Neb.—It all happened in one day to Virginia Radecke, 17, attractive high school senior.

She received word of her employment by a Chicago radio station. Experts at an Omaha music store informed her a violin she bought was worth only $10 was a Cremona, made in 1776. She sold it for $375. Her high school principal told her she could be graduated two weeks early to take her new job.

Thousand Islands Bridge Is Begun

Collins Landing, N. Y., May 1 (AP).—Construction of the international thousand islands bridge was under way today following ground-breaking ceremonies in which notables of the United States and Canada participated.

Advisory Engineer William T. Field of Watertown signalled the beginning of the project yesterday by turning the shovel full of earth at the American end of the span while 1,000 spectators looked on.

Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, New York public works commissioner, and John G. Mitchell, of Lansdowne, Ont., president of the Thousand Islands Bridge Company of Canada, were speakers at yesterday's ceremony.

Taste and Smell

Within the brain, taste and smell are essentially the same, notes a writer in Literary Digest. The nerve-centers of the olfactory bulb are similar to the taste-buds on the tongue. It is almost impossible to taste something differently than one smells something. Besides the conceptual identity of the sensations when they reach the brain, the nose and the mouth have a direct physical connection, so one can often literally taste what one smells and vice versa.

WEDDING BELLS WERE SILENT

On what was to have been the wedding day of Janice Jarratt, screen actress, and Melvin Purvis at San Antonio, Tex., the former G-man is shown arriving in Los Angeles after the marriage plans had been called off. With him are his sisters Kessie (below) and Mary Beth.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway "History Is Made at Night." Gaiety, despair, tragedy and an emotional shipwreck climax that reaches to new heights in screen achievement is to be seen on the Broadway screen with the French Charles Boyer and the American Jean Arthur co-starred after a series of signal successes in other pictures. The play revolves around the eternal triangle theme and it grows pretty stormy at times. It is purely adult entertainment, cleverly conceived and capably directed by Frank Borzage. A Walter Wanger production released through United Artists and featuring Colin Clive and Leo Carrillo.

Kingston: "Seventh Heaven." The story of two gutter waifs of Paris is told with all the sentimentality and brilliance that made it such a commanding hit in the silent picture days and James Stewart rises to the top of the dramatic ladder in his portrayal of the boy in the story and his performance stamps him as one of the most talented of the Hollywood players. Simone Simon is also effective but her work is lacking in the sheer skill of Stewart's characterization. Henry King directed this love idyll with a sensitive appreciation and a fine cast includes Jean Hersholt, John Qualen, Mady Christians, Gregory Ratoff and Gale Sondergaard. A 20th Century Fox presentation.

Orpheum "Black Legion" and "Black Gold." The activities of the Michigan terrorist legion is dramatized into a vicious melodrama at the Orpheum in a show that is half entertainment and half lecture on the evils of mob violence and mob fear. It tells how a hooded gang of terrorists cause death and destruction when they take up the cry of America for Americans and death to foreigners who fail to heed the dictates of the Legion. Humphrey Bogart, Dick Foran and Ann Sheridan head the players. "Black Gold" is the other feature with Frankie Darrow.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Marked Woman." Based on the history of one of New York's most slimy racketeers, this bold, hard hitting story tells of the clip joint business and of the girls who earn their living in that manner. But the plot centers around one girl especially, a girl who is sending her younger sister through school, and who is doing her best to get along pleasantly with the boss of the racket. But when her sister is found slain the girl goes to work and exposes the whole reeking setup. The play is grim and crusading in spirit, the dialogue is crisp and dramatic and Bette Davis, returning to the screen after a successful publicity vacation in England, is brilliant as the girl who tells all for the sake of others. Humphrey Bogart, Eduardo Ciannelli, Lola Lane, Isabel Jewell, Mayo Menhot, Allen Jenkins, Jane Bryan and Rosalind Marquis are featured in a strong cast. A Warner Brothers picture directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Kingston: Same Orpheum. "Kelly of the Secret Service" and "Unknown Ranger." Two thrillers constitute the double feature program at the Orpheum, the first a story of a handsome secret service agent who goes through any number of death defying assignments during the course of the play. Lloyd Hughes and Sheila Manors head the cast. "Unknown Ranger" is the other feature and it stars Bob Allen. The Dick Tracy serial is an added feature on the Sunday bill.

Odd Marriage Rites Are Observed by Canadians

Ancient matrimonial customs prevailing in certain sections of some French Canadian provinces probably would amaze prospective brides in the United States. Much of the form and tradition harks back two and three centuries to the mother country, France, says a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

In some outlying districts and villages a wedding assumes the character of a festival.

One of the picturesque customs surviving among the "habitants," or rural residents, is that of the public wedding procession which passes through the streets to the church.

At the head of the procession is the groom, his two nearest of kin walking with him. Next come his friends and relatives who are married, marching in pairs, and then the single men of his entourage. Behind them comes the bride, escorted by a large assemblage of her own relatives and friends marching in the same order as those of the groom.

Another quaint custom is the wedding feast. The bride is seated at the head of the table, but the groom stands behind the chair and serves her throughout the dinner.

The majority of the population of Haiti are negroes, while most of the rest are mulattoes descended from former French settlers.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROSSIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Every day is a threat-letter day in Hollywood.

You have read about those that came to Ginger Rogers, to Clark Gable, Shirley Temple, Jane Withers and Anna May Wong, but of the majority you never hear. The stars themselves don't as a rule. At one studio alone it is estimated that the star family receives at least 100 "threats" a week. These arrive in the regular flow of fan mail, are turned over to studio police for scrutiny, and most of them tossed aside as harmless. Those about which there is any doubt are investigated quietly, and occasionally one gets into the headlines.

Often, as in the case of Ginger Rogers, that is the first intimation the star has that she has become the object of some fan's financial affections. The studio protects its people, wherever possible, from the mental strain involved.

Many Are Boys

The youthful sailor who broke into print by demanding cash from Ginger Rogers some months ago was arrested in short order by justice department operatives and is now serving a stretch. The most recent Ginger-threatener signed his name and address, making things simpler. He was 18. On two separate occasions Shirley Temple "threats" were traced to 16-year-old boys. And that is the striking thing about the letter-writers—their almost invariably youth.

"Kids, mostly, who want a thrill, or seek notoriety, or just want to be up to something," one peace officer says. "It never does any of them any good—and can mean a penitentiary sentence."

Annoying as the would-be extortionists are, more so are the nuts and cranks and fantastic dreamers who harass the stars in person. Stars get their fame and their money from the fact that their calid images are seen by millions. Among those millions are people who get funny ideas—and quite a few who come to Hollywood to put their notions into effect.

Insistent In Demands

So it is that, not infrequently, a star will return home of an evening to find parked on his or her doorstep some stranger with claims, petitions, or demands. Sometimes these become so persistent it is necessary to summon police.

If the same thing happened to the average private citizen, he would feel no compunction about calling the cops immediately. Film people, realizing it is part of the price of stardom, and that human nature has strange quirks, usually try to rid themselves of the intruders peacefully. If they don't succeed, the gendarmes come and you read about it in the papers.

TWO KILLED IN MISHAPS IN MANHATTAN FRIDAY

New York, May 1 (AP)—Two pedestrians were killed by automobiles in Manhattan accidents today.

Michael Rooney, 36, (42 W. 100th street) was killed by a taxicab operated by Philip Macaluso, of (80-05 Roosevelt avenue) Jackson Heights, police said. Macaluso was arrested on a charge of homicide. Police stated Rooney was struck while crossing Amsterdam avenue against traffic signals.

Second victim was Harry Goodman, 57, (271 W. 27th street) struck down, police said, by Miss Denise Conley (197 Seventh avenue) as he was crossing 27th street at Eighth avenue. Miss Conley took Goodman to French Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Patrolman William Leary of the West 20th street station detained Miss Conley while homicide squad detectives examined her car.

FISH AND GAME ACTIVITIES

According to a biological survey made by the Conservation Department and not entirely completed as yet, Ulster county has more available streams whose waters are favorable to trout than has been realized up to this period.

Applications have been filed for brown, rainbow, and brook trout for the streams, lake trout for the Ashokan reservoir; large and small mouth bass, pikeperch, crappies, and bullheads, for all waters.

The Cottontail quota for this section, 1,036, have been received and released.

It is understood that the present supply of fish hatched by the state will not permit an allotment for each stream for which an application has been filed, but it is believed that stock will be received for streams on such stock will be the Esopus creek, below the Ashokan Dam to Atwood, unless the posting of the property along this stretch of water prohibits such stocking.

TWO CASES BEFORE JUDGE CULLOTON IN COURT HERE

John Brown was arrested last night on a charge of disorderly conduct on Tietjen avenue. This morning in police court the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday by Judge Culloton. Joseph Branne, 18, of Andrew street, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct in refusing to move when requested by a police officer. Judge Culloton suspended sentence.

Four Attempt Prison Break, Only One Lives

Action Taken On School Congestion

eral grant reinstated was a good one and once it was again allocated then the board could form some opinion and if it were found possible then a building program could be undertaken, once the grant has been reinstated the board could decide with the Common Council and others whether one junior high school or two should be built.

Conferred With Graves

Judge Hasbrouck said he had been in Albany Thursday, and conferred with Commissioner Graves. He had told the commissioner that apparently the mayor and the common council, as well as the board of education, were in accord as to the need of a school but were not in accord as to the time. He then suggested his plan for the appointment of a local committee to meet with the State Department of Education representative, after some plan was agreed on locally, for a discussion of temporary plan for relief if the local committee felt the time was not here for permanent relief because of financial conditions at present.

In the general discussion which followed, Trustee Byrne said he did not believe the cost of construction would be more than a year ago. A year ago the PWA plans were not definitely understood, many contractors were "at sea" as to the requirements, but now this had been ironed out and they knew the exact requirements as to labor, etc., he said. The original plan called for union wages and Mr. Byrne said the union wages here were identical now. Trustee Feeney said the request for the federal grant was the opening step toward a new school. If the $32,000 grant could be secured now it might mean a new school but that would have to be determined later, the thing now was to ascertain whether the grant could be reinstated.

Trustee Katz in reply to the statement that the city could not stand additional bonding in the face of the relief needs, stated that he believed some reasonable amount might be financed without the issuing of bonds. He said this had been done and could be done again.

After the Byrne resolution prevailed the discussion was continued on the resolution of Judge Hasbrouck.

One of the suggestions made was, that if the cost of the new school was prohibitive now, the municipal auditorium might be cut up for temporary quarters or some suitable building could be rented for a time.

Education Paramount

Judge Hasbrouck suggested that the pleasures of the public might be curtailed temporarily and the municipal auditorium turned into a temporary school building for a time. The need of relief from school congestion he said was paramount to dances and amusements now carried on at the auditorium.

Trustee Schmidt said the idea of a committee from the board to meet with the Mayor and Common Council committee was a good one. When the local people had worked out some plan it could be taken to the Commission of Education for approval. This committee felt the need was for temporary arrangements that plan could be taken up with the state department for approval. He said No. 6 and No. 7 were more crowded now than ever before and No. 4 had its largest enrollment. Something must be done.

Judge Hasbrouck suggested re-districting No. 6.

"If one of our school buildings should be completely destroyed by fire we could not re-build the school on its present site," said Trustee Schmidt. "The State Department would require a site of not less than four acres," said Mr. Schmidt. This, he said, was the information which the board had received in the past and it was not expected that the state department would permit any major extensions to any of the schools on their present sites.

Unless something was done and done soon it was possible the state would withhold state aid.

"There seems to be money for other projects which are not nearly so much needed as a school," said Trustee Feeney, "but there seems to be no money for schools."

The matter of how much it might cost for a temporary housing of the excess pupils was brought up by Trustee Katz, and Trustee Hasbrouck stated that it was his personal business he would do it as cheaply as possible, but he thought a "temporized" plan could be worked out for not more than $200,000.

Suggests Permanent Plan

Trustee Katz then said that if the city was to spend $200,000 for "temporary" relief that it might be economy to add $50,000 or more to that sum, secure a federal grant and work out a permanent relief program rather than spend such a large sum for temporary relief which would later have to be replaced with permanent structures.

The Hasbrouck resolution was unanimously adopted and the committee called for from the board was appointed. The common council committee to meet with the board's committee will be named later and probably will be the school committee and will undoubtedly include the mayor, as suggested by Trustee Hasbrouck.

Other routine business transacted was the granting of permission to the Athletic Council of the high school for use of the auditorium and gym for its annual party and dance on May 20. The board also approved the application of the senior class to hold its commencement dance at the municipal auditorium on June 23.

H. R. Edson, chairman of the recreational committee, asked the board for permission to use the grounds at the rear of the high school during the summer months for supervised play. He stated that the records showed that last year at the public playgrounds it was found there was a very small representation of children from the area bounded by Broadway, Hoffman street, West Chester street and Mary's avenue. This it was believed was due to the fact that the children felt it was too far to go to the distant playgrounds, and he believed would avail themselves of the opportunity to use the high school grounds.

The permission was granted subject to any use the board might desire of the grounds for special affairs.

Health Officer Sanford reported that a bacterial test made of the bubble type of drinking fountains used in many of the schools showed them dangerous to health and he recommended that the integral type be installed. The matter was referred to the building committee with power.

Coal Bids Opened.
Coal bids were opened for supplying 675 tons of pea coal to the city schools. Four bids were received. Edward T. McGill $7.95 per ton net, Kingston Coal Company $6.50 per ton net, Independent Coal Company $7.95 and Leon Wilbur $6.55 per ton net.

Judge Hasbrouck moved the contract be awarded to Kingston Coal Company, it having supplied the schools last year. It was stated Wilbur had supplied the schools the previous season and Dr. Cragin seconded the Hasbrouck resolution on condition that the resolution of Judge Hasbrouck be amended to divide the coal business equally between Kingston Coal Company and Wilbur, because "the bids were substantially the same."

The amendment was accepted but Trustee Feeney said he felt it should be referred to the supplies committee with power for perhaps the firm had submitted the low price figuring on the entire job of 675 tons and would not want to accept a split. The Hasbrouck resolution was adopted and the matter will be taken up with the companies.

The April payroll amounting to $37,531.89 was approved as were vouchers for bill to the amount of $65,946.68.

Trustee Byrne for the building committee reported that work on the fire tower at No. 2 was about completed except for some work on the painting; that the iron fire escape was nearly completed at No. 1; that the curb on the west drive at the high school has been located, widening the drive by about four feet to take care of the large school buses. The committee recommended that the piers at the school entrance be relocated to permit wider access to the high school entrances and the rebuilding of the roadway necessary at the west drive and the placing of walks to the entrance to the Manual Arts building. The committee reported that the concrete walks at No. 5, from the street to the side entrance had been completed.

The report was received and filed and the committee empowered to proceed with the securing of estimates for the suggested work at the high school entrance and driveway.

New Bake Oven

Trustee Katz for the supplies committee moved that federal funds which will shortly be received for equipment at the school be expended for a new bake oven at the home economics department of the high school; that a sound film projector be purchased and that a sander for the shop be purchased. Adopted. These federal funds must be spent for equipment only.

Authority was given to buy janitor's supplies and art supplies. The janitor's supplies consist of a multitude of small items which can best be bought in the open market. The art supplies will be bought direct.

An opinion was received from Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin to the effect that there was no financial obligation acquired by the board of education if it acted as transmitting office for the 3 cent a day hospital fund plan for teachers. The board voted to authorize the collection from salaries of the fund for transmission to the Associated Hospital Service in New York. Teachers who desire to adopt this plan may have the board take payments twice a year from their salaries and transmit the payment of the service in New York.

Van Ingen Report.

The following report of Superintendent Van Ingen was received and filed.

To the Board of Education.
Attendance Officers.
One of the most important departments of the state educational system is that of attendance and child accounting. This division reaches every child of school age (7 to 16 years) in the remotest rural districts and the most congested urban sections.

The enforcement of attendance laws is vested in the local superintendents acting through legally appointed attendance officers. These officers make monthly reports in triplicate. One report goes to the department at Albany, one to the local superintendent and the third is retained by the attendance officer.

It will be of interest to you to note the following taken from the March reports of our attendance officers, Mr. Staples and Miss Heaney:
No cases of absences reported to attendance officers for investigation. 1,036

No reported to principals of other school officials. 1,117
Cases adjusted involving relief. 38
No times attendance officers visited schools. 172
Unlawful detention. 101
Cases of sickness of child. 863
Sickness or death in family. 40

The above activities of the attendance officers include the high school, the eight public grammar schools, five parochial schools, continuation and special school. All together this involves approximately 7,300 pupils of school age.

The above gives but a fraction of the problems and responsibilities of the officers who must constantly exercise the greatest amount of tact and patience, coupled with good sense and careful judgment.

Respectfully submitted
B. C. Van Ingen
Superintendent of Schools.

New Police Autos Expected Shortly

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood stated this morning that the police department had been notified that the four new Plymouth cars ordered by the police board some time ago to replace the four cars now in use as radio cars, had been shipped from the factory, and were expected to arrive shortly.

The delay in the shipment of the cars was caused by the recent automobile strike, which delayed shipments not only to Kingston but throughout the country.

On a national average, taxes take approximately 20 per cent of income. This money is collected mainly through indirect taxes. The tax paid by the shoe manufacturer and the retail store, is passed on to the shoe buyer. The tax levied against the electric company is a necessary and substantial part of the consumer's bill. So it goes, with everything we buy, luxury or necessity.

Movie Industry Faces Walk-out

Hollywood, May 1 (AP)—The multi-billion dollar movie industry was confronted today by a possible mass walkout of some 10,000 union employees of studios, including many prominent players.

Four unions were called out on strike last night when representatives of studio executives withheld decision on union demands for a closed shop as well as union recognition. The "other unions in the newly-formed Federated Motion Picture Crafts, strike sponsor, voted to defer until today decision on joining the strike.

More than 2,500 members of the Scenic Artists, Painters, Draftsmen and Hair Dressers Unions were involved in last night's strike call.

President Charles Leasing, of the federated crafts, declared other unionists would not go through picket lines of the striking unions.

He said, however, that full effect of the strike may not be evident until Monday. There is little studio activity on Saturdays.

Mayor Appeals to Children to Aid

Mayor C. J. Heiselman said that employees of the park department of the Board of Public Works this morning had started the work of planting evergreens and mountain laurel in Cornell Park. This work is being done to beautify the grounds.

The mayor asked The Freeman to issue an appeal to the children to play in the park to assist in preventing the destruction of the plants. Last season the city spent considerable money in planting at the park and many of the plants were destroyed.

Lutheran Broadcast
Some very interesting details regarding the recent broadcasts of the Lutheran Hour have been released by the Lutheran Laymen's League, sponsors of the Lutheran Hour.

The recent broadcasts, concluded on April 11 of this year, were broadcasted over a 28 station network of the Mutual Broadcasting System and the Lutheran Laymen's League reports the receipt of over 4,500 letters per week and on two occasions they received over 5,000 letters in one week.

During the recent broadcasts more than 60,000 Lutheran Hour Cassettes and more than 30,000 Lord's Prayer booklets were sent out from the headquarters at St. Louis. Local sponsors of the Lutheran Hour was Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street, this city, the Rev. E. L. Witte, pastor.

"The Man Without a Country"
The character of Philip Nolan in Edward Everett Hale's story, "The Man Without a Country," is purely imaginary. Mr. Hale explained how he got the name, from that of a man mentioned in the memoirs of General James Wilkinson, but did not know that the first name of this Mr. Nolan was Philip until long afterwards.

The historical Philip Nolan referred to by Wilkinson died in 1801, while the fictitious Philip Nolan invented by Hale appeared first in 1807. To explain the matter still further, Hale wrote a paper on the real Nolan and also a book called "Philip Nolan's Friends" about this same acquaintance of Wilkinson's.

Naming Hampton Roads
Hampton Roads, the channel through which the waters of the James, Nansemond and Elizabeth rivers pass into Chesapeake Bay, was named from the town of Hampton on the near-by shore of Virginia "Road," in either singular or plural form, is used in nautical affairs for a ship roadstead—a sheltered place outside a harbor, where ships may ride at anchor.

Institute For The Control of Syphilis

grounds. He referred to the physical and mental impairments that followed the onset of the disease, with the result that many of its victims became public charges. "I am not looking at syphilis as a moral question, but as a medical question, a question of public health," said the Mayor. He added that he thought he could speak with authority in saying that the administration and its various agencies were solidly behind this movement to stamp out syphilis and all its accompanying evils, one of the worst of which was the suffering too often brought upon those who were innocent.

Dr. Sanford spoke interestingly regarding the extent of the disease, what was being done and what should be done. He said that syphilis was increasing its efforts this year, with much more satisfactory facilities available. He said that a clinic was started in 1929 and 185 treatments were given the following year. Last year this number had been increased to 1,028.

An extensive civilian campaign is necessary, however, said Dr. Sanford, adding that there are some 12,000,000 cases in the United States, that about one out of every 10 persons is affected, that to syphilis can be traced more than 10 per cent of the cases of insanity and 18 per cent of the diseases of heart and blood vessels. He said that people must learn that syphilis is either acquired or congenital and that there is no reason for the second if proper treatment is given. In the case of acute syphilis the doctor said that 86 per cent could be cured if taken in the acute stage, but people must learn to recognize the disease and to consult a physician when any ulcerative sore appears on the body. It was also stated that in about 84 per cent of the cases treated, treatments are lapsed before a cure is effected. The clinical treatment extends over one and a half years. "Whatever the financial condition diagnosis and treatment of syphilis is available," said Dr. Sanford.

Problem Greater Than TB
Dr. Chant, who spoke for Dr. Laidlaw, the latter having been taken ill two weeks ago, discussed the question from the standpoint of a state agency. He said that the problem was greater than that presented by tuberculosis 30 years ago, but on the other hand facilities for fighting it were greater. Today they have a drug that is a specific, they have finely developed methods for diagnosis and there is promise of a full life to those who will take advantage of the means that are at hand for a cure.

Dr. Chant said that the State Department had been working for years on the subject and today were making a drug that was generally available. They were making special efforts to develop clinics in the rural areas and increasing their endeavors to trace "contacts." Public information is the great need, he said, adding that the State Department was ever ready to offer any possible aid.

Mrs. Simonson was the concluding speaker of the evening. She spoke of the difficulties experienced during the past four years to get committees to take up the work and so was the more pleased at the interest shown at the Kingston meeting. She spoke about the complicated problems involved in the fight against syphilis, the many misconceptions and wrong notions regarding the disease and said that the conference method of meeting the problem, such as the meeting of the evening, had proved very successful. Mrs. Simonson then suggested the institute for May 27 and 28, a motion approving the plan being passed later, and discussed
